

HONORS IN THE MAJOR

The Honors in the Major (HM) track offers the opportunity for intensive, individual study in a major. There are two ways to complete HM subject to direction at the department level: One (1) Honors in the Major Thesis, OR Three (3) Honors in the Major Projects connected with courses. (See graphic at right)

Within these two HM paths, the work may vary in form. What all HM work has in common is that it goes above and beyond the standard requirements for the major and it demonstrates the student's initiative as well as ability.

The first step is to let your advisor and the Honors Director know that you are interested in HM, as the process begins with a faculty recommendation. Please note: Honors in the Major and University Honors may be undertaken simultaneously by qualified students.

HONORS IN THE MAJOR THESIS

Complete an HM Thesis that goes beyond the standard senior project for the major.

- HM candidates submit their project and thesis proposals to supervising faculty in the major and the Honors Director for approval.

HONORS IN THE MAJOR PROJECT

Complete three (3) projects in connection with courses in the major but beyond the standard coursework.

Each HM project will be devised by the student in collaboration with faculty in the major and the Honors Director. For more information and the proper forms, contact the Director: honors@mountunion.edu or thieleds@mountunion.edu.
